

The Institute of Transportation Engineers Ohio Section Recipients of the President's Award

The President's Award recognizes sustained contribution to the transportation engineering profession, the Ohio Section, the Institute, and one's community. Factors taken into consideration include Section and International ITE membership and committee activity, positions and offices held, professional accomplishments, community involvement, and demonstrated leadership in one's profession, ITE, and the community. The recipient of this award must be a member of the Institute as well as the Ohio Section.
